

1st Workshop VENUS project

Rome 17th December 2021

9:00-13:30 CET

Building/Room:

University of Rome "Roma Tre" – Engineering

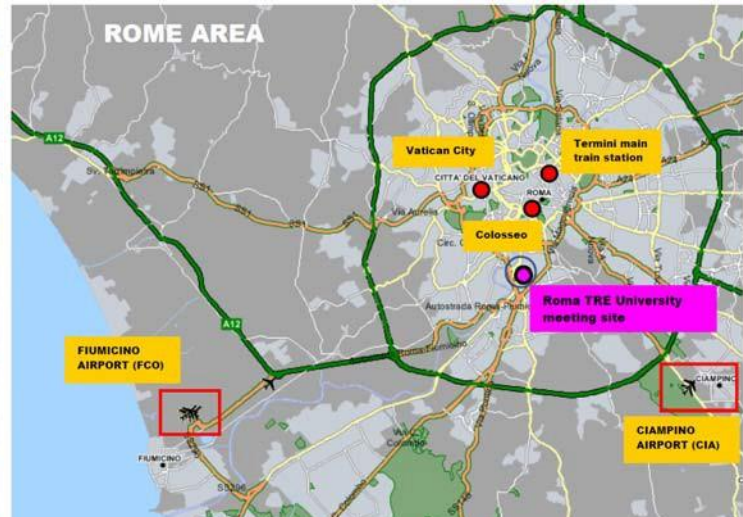

Department

Via Vito Volterra 62 - Rome

Conference Room

Accommodation

Some facts you should consider when choosing your accommodation.

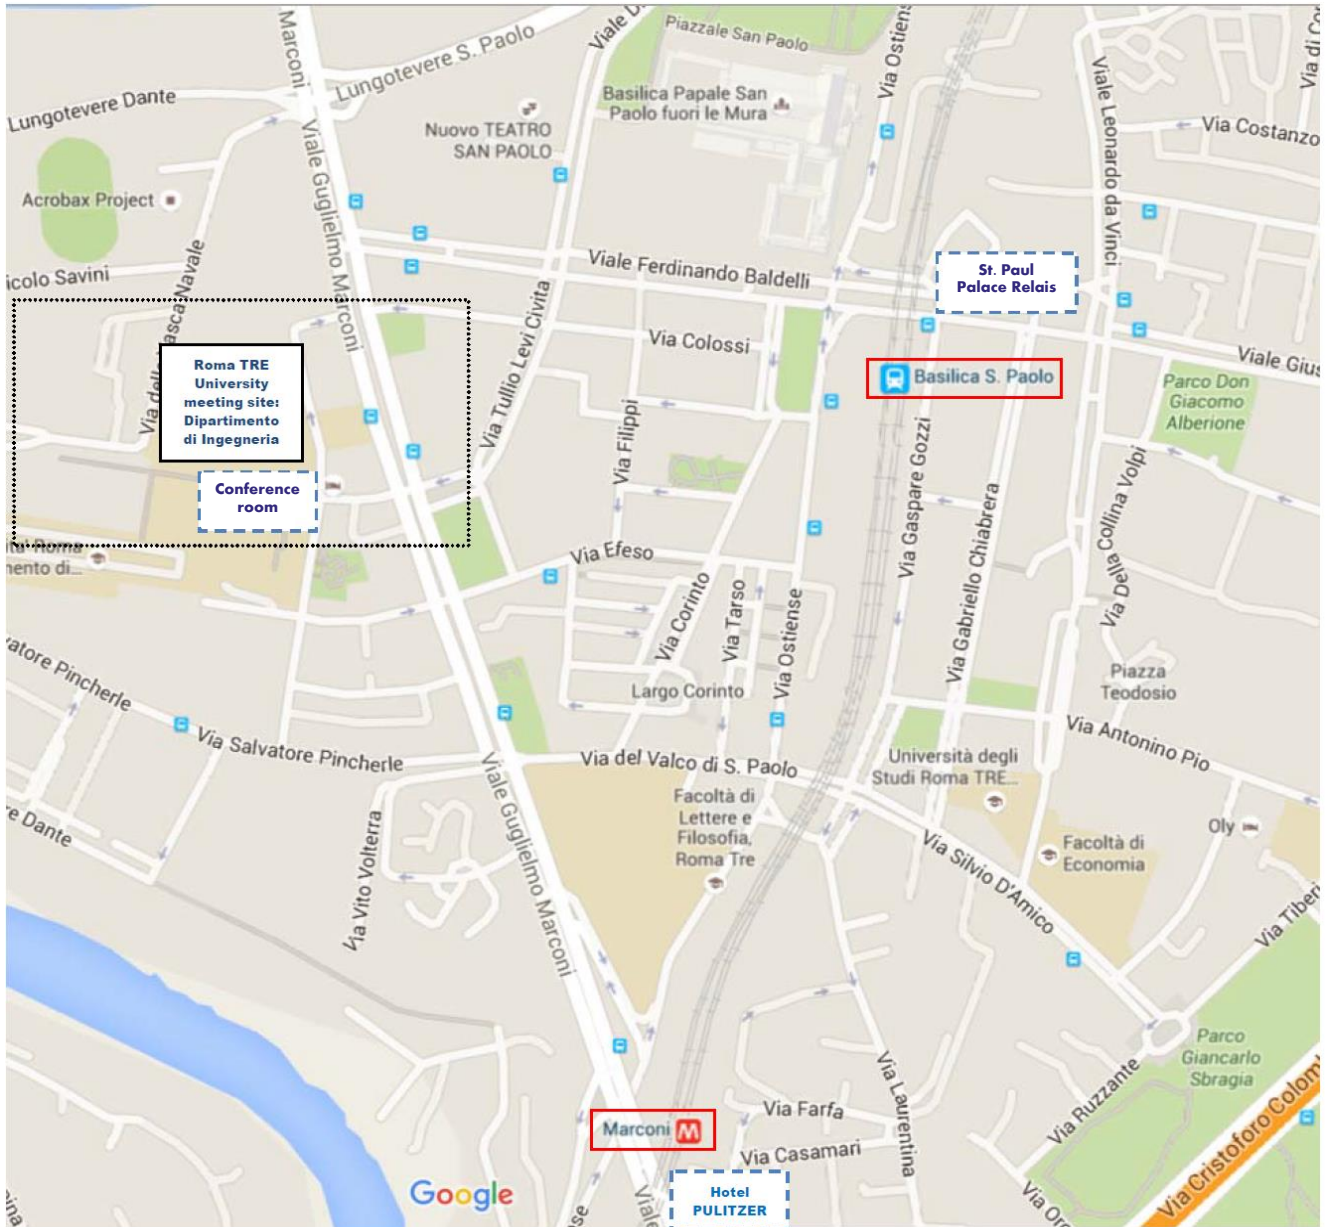

The 1st Workshop will take place at the Engineering Department of “Roma Tre” University. The meeting site is located in Via Vito Volterra 62 (the nearest entrance is in Via Vito Volterra 48), near San Paolo Basilica and close to the metro B line (San Paolo Basilica and Marconi stops). The city center can be reached very easily, consider this when selecting the accommodation!

Some facts you should know when booking your flight

Rome main airport is Fiumicino (FCO). This is located by the sea on the southwest side of the town. You can easily get downtown (Termini) by train (Leonardo express). Some airlines (Ryanair, Easy-Jet) land at Ciampino (CIA), on the southeast side of the town. You can reach the city (Termini) by bus, using the shuttle service in connection with Ryanair and Easy-Jet flights.

For more information, please visit Rome Airports (ADR) web site www.adr.it

Suggested hotels very close to the meeting location

Suggested hotels very close to the meeting location

- St. Paul Palace Relais: Viale Giustiniano imperatore 16.

Tel: +39 349 1351825

Close to Basilica San Paolo metro stop (line B), about 1000 m from Engineering department of University (meeting location).

- Hotel Pulitzer: Viale: G. Marconi 905.

Tel: +39 06 598591

Close to Via Cristoforo Colombo, about 1000 m from Engineering department of University (meeting location). It is very close to Marconi metro stop (line B)

For other suggestions on your accommodation in Rome you may give a look at

<http://www.booking.com>

Interesting info for tourists may be found at http://www.travelplan.it/rome_guide.htm

Interesting info for bus may be found at

<http://www.atac.roma.it>